BRITAIN STARTS TOTAL SEA WAR

Dies Promises Cooperation With FDR

PREDICTS PLAN FOR FIGHTING FIFTH COLUMN

To Confer With President on Future Procedure of Committee.

DEFENDS PUBLICITY

Says 'Fearless Exposure' Is Best Way To Combat Subversion.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Chairman Martin Dies of the house committee investigating un-American activities said today in advance of a conference with President Roosevelt that he is willing to co-operate fully in the administration's anti-fifth column drive.

Dies held a press conference in his office shortly after his arrival here to thrash out with Mr. Roosevelt their long-standing disagreements over the work and methods employed by the investigating committee.

Dies told reporters, that while he was willing to co-operate with Mr. Roosevelt, he could not agree to cease publicizing propaganda groups. He called for "fearless disclosures" of their activities.

"If we should sacrifice that," he said, "we would be going contrary to the congress and the people."

"I feel confident that a program can be worked out with the executive department under which the task of combatting fifth column activity can be developed, friction can be avoided, and a duplication of efforts prevented," Dies said. "Insofar as I am concerned, every effort will be made to establish such co-operation."

Emphasizing that he would stand on his conviction that "fearless exposure" was the proper method of combatting certain subversive organizations, Dies said:

"I propose to stand by them until the American people, who are responsible for the committee, reverse themselves."

It will be only the second time that Dies has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt since congress created his committee two years ago. The

SECRET TRIP

Roosevelt To Use Airplane on Return 'If Necessary.'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt told a surprised press conference today that he might use the airplane for the first time in eight years if it should become necessary while he was away from Washington to return within 12 hours for some emergency.

He said he was planning a trip next week but could not say now where he was going.

Then he added, that he would return by plane if it was found he was too far away from Washington to come back by rail in 12 hours.

The president emphasized, however, that a plane would be used only in case it was necessary.

Asked if a presidential flight might conceivably cover the continent, the president replied it might.

TELEGRAPHER DIES

NEWARK—(AP)—Walter H. Curtis, 53, for 22 years general foreman for Western Union in charge of Baltimore and Ohio railroad telegraph lines in Ohio and Indiana, died last night. Curtis was the father-in-law of Harold R Johnson, editor of the Newark Advocate.

Ends Career

The suicide death of Jesse Livermore, who gained wide fame as the "Boy Plunger" of Wall Street, is being investigated by New York authorities. It is claimed that Livermore had been depressed over his recent financial difficulties. At the height of his career he was reputed to have made $10,000,000 by speculating as a "bear" in New York's stock market.

'BOY PLUNGER' ENDS 'FAILURE'

Jesse Livermore Takes Own Life In Hotel Lounge With Revolver.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Jesse L Livermore's widow tearfully studied his suicide note today. It said he had been a "failure."

One-time "boy plunger," "wizard of Wall Street," "Cotton King," winner and loser of four fortunes, Livermore shot and killed himself last evening in the gentlemen's lounge of a fashionable Fifth avenue hotel.

The body of the 62-year-old speculator, one of the nation's most spectacular market operators, lay in a morgue, formally identified for the police by his son, Jesse Livermore, jr.

The note had been written in the bar of the hotel during the luncheon hour yesterday. Livermore sat at a table and furiously wrote in his note book while eating lunch. It was addressed to "Nina," and signed "Laurie."

It said he was "tired of fighting" and could "not go an any longer." Full of endearing terms, it asserted: "I am not worthy of your love. I am a failure."

When he had finished his lunch and his composition, Livermore left the hotel, presumably for his office in a nearby skyscraper. Later, Livermore returned to the hotel and went to the lounge adjoining the men's room. Ten minutes later an attendant saw him in a chair, thought at first he was asleep. Then he saw blood trickling from a wound in his head. A .32 caliber Colt automatic revolver was on the floor at his feet.

NOLAN TO QUIT POLITICAL JOB

Announces Early Retirement As Jefferson Chairman.

STEUBENVILLE —(NS)— Attorney John F. Nolan, who has headed the Jefferson county Democratic organization since 1914, admitted today that he intends to retire soon as chairman, but will remain active in behalf of his party.

From point of continuous service, Nolan who will be 50 years old on Dec. 10, is the oldest county chairman in either party. He said he hopes to retire by the first of the year, as soon as a suitable successor can be found.

JUDGE WARNS DIVORCE PLAN TO BE 'TOUGH'

Richland Jurist Scans Record, Finds Divorce Ratio Nearly One for Two Marriages.

CRITICIZES ATTORNEYS

Declares Petitions 'Too Brief and Inadequate,' Fail To List Suitable Grounds.

"The road to a divorce in this court is going to be steeper from now on than the walls of this courtroom," Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston warned today during the hearing of an alimony and contempt case in his court.

Citing court records for the last month which showed that 35 divorce suits were started in Richland county as against 46 marriages, Judge Huston said "the county has the worst record of any in this section and we are going to do something about it now."

He asserted that 'husbands who know they are in the wrong and don't appear in court to contest their wives' divorce petitions are going to pay plenty of alimony if the decrees are granted.

"If both parties are wrong, neither can expect any help or sympathy from the court," he added.

"In some counties in the state the ratio of divorces to marriages is about one in every seven, but here it's one in every two," Judge Huston pointed out.

He criticized attorneys for filing what he termed as "too brief and inadequate divorce petitions" and then coming into court expecting to win decrees for their clients on grounds that were not set forth in the petitions.

"Sometimes the petitions ask for divorce and equitable relief on a vague charge of gross neglect of duty and then when the case is up for hearing the attorney tries to offer evidence of drunkenness and extreme cruelty," he said.

In other cases, he explained, the parties involved in the suits make no attempt to reach a financial settlement, basing their cases only on their desire for freedom.

Judge Huston said he was going to set up some "iron-clad rules" in divorce cases and abide by them in the hearing of future cases, in an attempt to halt the increasing number of divorce cases coming into the county court.

SEVEN KILLED

Funerals Planned For Victims of Gas Explosion.

TOPPENISH, Wash. —(UP)— Funerals were planned today for the seven victims of a blast that leveled a one-story mercantile building and smashed almost every window in the business district.

Fourteen other persons were injured, some seriously, yesterday when leaking gas, accumulated in the building cellar, was ignited and the brick structure was blown apart.

The building housed a telegraph office, beauty shop, insurance office, a restaurant, and the Cline's hardware store.

Night Life In London Goes on---But Differently

Night life in London these days goes on despite incessant aerial bombing by the Nazis. Of course, there are some new angles to it. For example, all wear tin derbies and generally the customer won't check it. Then, it is customary for patrons to reserve a bed in the bomb-proof basement, which is protected against all but direct hits. Basements are stocked with provisions, fitted with gas and water-proof doors. Waiters, who also sleep on the premises, are trained in fire fighting.

STUDY ELECTION BALLOT CASE

Grand Jurors Delayed But Expect To Submit Report of Findings Today.

Needing more time than was anticipated to hear a case involving the alleged illegal circulation of copies of original ballots for samples in behalf of Howard Wenning for county clerk of courts, the Richland county grand jury was expected to conclude its session early this afternoon.

The ballot case, one of 24 on the jury's calendar, was the last on the docket and it required several hours this morning. County Recorder Wenning, elected county clerk Nov. 5; Arliss F. Porter, former clerk of the election board, and Police Chief Meade K. Bates, were among the witnesses called before the jury this morning.

The jurors were scheduled to inspect the county jail and progress on the new courthouse elevator before submitting their report to Common Pleas Judge C H. Huston.

The ballot case, one of the few of its kind to be heard in the county, held major interest in the session which opened Wednesday morning.

CUDAHY QUITS BELGIAN POST

WASHINGTON —(UP)— U. S. Ambassador John A. Cudahy has submitted to President Roosevelt his resignation as ambassador to Belgium.

Cudahy said yesterday that he does not plan to resume his diplomatic career.

His action follows the resignation of William C. Bullitt as ambassador to France and Joseph C Davies, former ambassador to Russia and Belgium, and Hugh Wilson, former ambassador to Germany, as special assistants to the secretary of state.

STURDY STUMP

Dynamite Shakes Neighborhood, But Roots Hold Firm.

WATERVILLE, Minn. —(AP)— A crew clearing a site for a new county garage put 11 sticks of dynamite under a stump which already had defied block and tackle and a lesser charge of explosive.

Buildings shook; windows in several nearby houses and a factory were shattered; a house trailer parked in the vicinity was overturned.

But the stump remained on the ground.

Fail to Find 4 Involved In Loan Firm Robbery

Four armed bandits who staged a daylight robbery at the downtown office of the Colonial Finance company's office yesterday noon apparently had made a clean get-away today.

Police reported they had no clues to work on since the bandits were not seen entering or leaving the establishment. The bandits wore gloves and there were no fingerprints in the office.

Three employes, who were locked in a backroom while the gunmen looted the cash drawers of $628, viewed pictures taken from police files of known holdup men yesterday afternoon but were unable to identify any of them as the four who

DOCTOR BACK

Lucas Finally Wins Fight To Keep Only Physician.

Following a series of set-backs in their fight to get their only physician back, residents of Lucas had won out today.

Dr. Paul J Lee 35, who has been at Camp Shelby, Miss., for more than six weeks, was due to arrive in Crestline at 1:30 p m. today and planned to go immediately to Lucas to resume his doctor's practice.

Called into service despite the protests of 600 Lucas residents, Dr. Lee, a reserve officer, went to Camp Shelby but failed to pass the rigid physical examination. He planned to return home about Nov. 1, but he was held at the camp, apparently because of a shortage of doctors.

MORE SNOW DUE FOR RICHLAND

Rising Temperatures Are Only Temporary, It Will Be Colder Tomorrow.

Mansfielders got some relief today from the three-day cold spell that glazed highways, caused four deaths in the state and a multitude of minor automobile crashes in the Mansfield district.

It was to be only a brief respite from the wintery blasts, however, the weatherman predicting more snow tonight and lower temperatures Saturday.

Partly cloudy and colder with snow flurries tonight was forecast, with increasing cloudiness and somewhat colder and snow Saturday.

Thermometer readings generally throughout the state were higher this morning than yesterday when new season lows were reported. At noon today the temperature in Mansfield had risen to 36. The low mark last night was 19.

The state highway department reported snow plows and cinder crews at work on icy roads around Defiance, Lima, Newark, Coshocton, Cleveland, Painesville, Chardon and Jefferson.

Icy pavements indirectly caused at least one death. Mrs. Ona Parker, 60, of Pittsburgh, was killed in a traffic collision on an ice coated road near East Liverpool, and Robert Voelker, 11, Cleveland, became the first coasting fatality of the season in Ohio, when he was struck by an auto while attempting to retrieve his sled from the street.

Gift Directory, Starting In N-J Today, Way to Earn Cash

Could you use an extra $25 or a few free theater tickets? If you could, you will be interested in the contest which will appear on the classified advertising pages of The News-Journal during the next 26 days.

Starting tonight and continuing for 26 consecutive nights a list of five questions will be published on the classified gift directory on Page 22 in today's issue. The answers will be found in the classified advertisements appearing on this page.

Sounds simple? It is, but it provides something more than fun in the question-and-answers manner. It gives the participant a detailed picture of what can be found in Mansfield's Christmas gift departments, thereby aiding in Christmas shopping problems, and it also provides a fascinating chance to win cash prizes and theater tickets.

There will be $50 in cash prizes and 100 guest theater tickets. The cash prizes will be $25 for first prize; $10 for second; $7.50 for third; $5 for fourth; and $2.50 for fifth prize. The next awards will be 20 prizes of four guest theater tickets and 10 prizes of two theater tickets.

The contest will be judged on a basis of 26 sets of questions and answers at the end of the contest.

Rules for the contest should be kept in mind while working on the

Broad Attack Against Italy Being Planned

Fascists Seen as 'Achilles Heel' of Axis Forces; England Claims Mediterranean Controlled By Royal Navy.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Out of blazing naval warfare in the Mediterranean and a clash of light forces in the English channel Britain drew claims today of having clinched control of the sea Italians call "ours" and a rout of German warships.

Reports filtering through the London admiralty—traditionally "the silent service"—indicated that a broad offensive intended to sweep the Mediterranean clear of Italian naval forces and strike at Italy as the "Achilles heel" of the Axis-controlled continent is under way.

This naval warfare, with accent on aerial operations wherein torpedo-planes are matched against the largest battleships, appeared to be the initiative Britain is striving for to counter Germany's siege of Britain by air and sea.

It is being waged in apparent co-ordination with the RAF's continuing land operations against the industries and communications of the Axis powers.

Rome and Berlin have disputed British reports of victory and claimed successes in the same actions. But this is what the British say their sea forces, with the great help of the fleet air arm, have accomplished this week:

Damaged six Italian warships Wednesday afternoon off the Italian island of Sardinia—torpedo-plane hits on a 35,000-ton battleship of the new Littorio class and a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Bolzano class: dive-bombing of another cruiser: firing of still another and gunfire damage to two destroyers.

Routed German "light forces" early today in the English channel with thus far unspecified damage to the fleeing German craft—apparently destroyers or small craft—and admitted damage to one British ship.

Bombed Port Laki, on the Island of Lero, in the nest of the Italian-held Dodecanese islands in the eastern Mediterranean, where fires were set in the waterfront area, and a vessel, probably a warship, was attacked.

Bombed the port of Tripoli, in Italian Libya, where another ship was hit and fires started which were visible 60 miles away.

By Italian acknowledgment, British planes also struck at the naval bases of Brindisi and Taranto, on the heel of the Italian boot, but, according to the Rome communique, "dropped explosive and incendiary bombs only near Brindisi, where they fell in open country and the sea."

Leave Pogradetz In Hurry, Throwing Away Arms and Ammunition.

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch is the first independent verification that Pogradetz, Albanian town 20 miles north of Koritza, has been captured by the Greeks. Its capture has not been claimed officially in Athens although it was reported Tuesday in London. The Greek command said at that time only that its forces had "overshot" it.)

By PETER TOMPKINS

POGRADETZ, Albania (Via Athens)—(AP)—Greek official communications have been on the conservative side both as regards Italian casualties and the amount of booty taken.

Every Albanian village and all along the coastal sector through which I have traveled to this little settlement 20 miles north of Koritza, I was amazed by the number of trucks, motorcycles and guns littering the roadside, to say nothing of the quantities of war materials already collected by the Greeks.

I can also understand now why the communiques have been so re-

TRAIN BLASTED

150 Chinese and Japs Killed or Injured In Wreck.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—At least 150 persons were killed or wounded today when a train bearing prominent Japanese and Chinese officials to Nanking for the formal recognition by Japan of Wang Ching-Wei's regime was dynamited near Soochow by Chinese guerrillas.

Japanese quarters said that most of the casualties were Chinese, mainly coolies. They were riding in a car behind the locomotive, the only car on the train said to have been destroyed.

It was reported that at least two Americans were aboard the wrecked train but their names were not known immediately and it was not established whether they had escaped injury.

Shaffer's Chief Assistant Looms As His Successor

Vance Grimes, Medina, chief assistant in the Ashland livision office of the state highway department, was seen today as the probable successor to Murray D. Shaffer, Mansfield, after Shaffer leaves Ashland Monday to become chief engineer of location and designing in the highway department at Columbus.

Ralph Hardy, Richland county Republican executive chairman, said the G. O. P. executive chairmen of the eight counties in the Ashland division had recommended the promotion of Grimes to the engineer's post.

The appointment, which will be made by Highway Director Hal G. Sours, is expected by Monday.

Grimes has been Shaffer's assistant in the Ashland division office in the Ashland division since Shaffer took the engineer's post about two years ago.

Although Shaffer's appointment to the Columbus job becomes effective Monday, it is expected that he will divide his time between Ashland and Columbus for the next two weeks while he helps the new engineer at Ashland get off to a good start.

Shaffer will be in charge of all new state and federal construction projects on state highways in his new post at Columbus.

COASTING DEATH

Richland Rookie Tells of First Taste of Army Life

The six Mansfield boys who left here Tuesday morning as Richland county's first quota of men for selective service military training, have already been initiated into the art of making beds and other phases of camp life, according to George J. Lump, who left with the group.

In a letter to friends today, Lump summarized experiences of the group from the time the rookies left Mansfield until they got their equipment at Ft. Thomas, Ky., where they will be located until Monday.

The boys left here by bus at 9 a. m. Tuesday and arrived at Ft. Hayes, Columbus about noon. There they met and made friends with a number of draftees from Cleveland.

After their papers were delivered, Lump said, they were called for "chow" which was "beans, spuds and pie, and not bad at all."

"After lunch," Lump wrote, "we received another physical examination and it was a dandy, if I may say so, and by 7:30 p. m. the examination had been completed and our bedding issued to us. We made our own beds which was something new to the majority of us and did we have a time of it? You know it."

At 8 that night the boys saw a picture show "Tom Brown's School Days" at the post theater and at 9 the signal for "lights out" was sounded. "There wasn't much sleeping done," Lump wrote.

NYA REFLECTS UPWARD TREND IN BUSINESS

Increased Number of Youths Leaving Projects For Jobs In Private Industry.

The general upswing in business was reflected today in the employment rolls of the National Youth administration.

Robert C. Young, supervisor of the five-county Mansfield district said an increased number of youths have been leaving NYA projects for private employment, boosting materially the number of young men being given pre-employment experience by the government agency.

"More youths are leaving NYA projects for jobs in industry and business," he stated, "but due to the large number of unemployed youth "waiting their turn," enrollment on projects is being steadily increased."

Young said these trends shown in Richland, Ashland, Morrow, Crawford, Marion and Wyandot counties were state-wide, adding that during October 518 youths from NYA projects in Ohio obtained private jobs, compared to 492 in September and 422 in August.

It was pointed out however, that although 2,118 unemployed youths between the ages of 18 and 25 were assigned to projects during October there were 14,431 certified and awaiting assignments in the state.

Enrollment in Richland county is being increased daily Young said, through placements on construction projects operating at Charles Mill reservoir where a resident training center is being established and at the municipal airport where a roadside park is being developed.

Youths desiring clerical experience are being assigned on new projects operating at the Ohio State employment service center and the agricultural extension service office in the courthouse.

The officers found a large grey opossum in Garner's quarters. They said sure he could eat it. So Garner had 'possum pie.

BIG POTATOES

BROCKTON, Mass. —(NS)— Proof of the size of some of Maine's potatoes are 35 "spuds" brought home by Ernest V. Leighton, a newspaperman. Leighton's potatoes weighed 62 pounds. One of the giant potatoes alone weighed more than 2½ pounds.

King George VI of England was second in command of one of the turrets on the battleship Collingwood at the great naval battle of Jutland in the World War.

SOME STOCKS MANAGE TO EDGE FORWARD TODAY

General Run of Issues Did Little In Today's Market; Dealings Sluggish.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Scattered stocks managed to edge moderately higher in today's market but the general run of leaders did little or nothing.

Narrow price changes ruled from the start in sluggish dealings. Near the second hour mild irregularity prevailed.

Given an occasional lift were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, American Smelting, General Electric, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania.

Issues at a standstill or a trifle in arrears most of the time included Montgomery Ward, Great Northern, American Telephone, Dow Chemical, and International Nickel.

Comforting marketwise was the survey of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing Christmas shopping throughout the nation got off to a fast start this week.

Spending in some mid-western cities was said to have exceeded that of last year by as much as 30 per cent.

Another constructive indicator was seen in estimates from Detroit that eight automobile and parts companies in that district were spending more than $120,000,000 on new plant construction and on machinery.

CHAPTER IX.

At 9 o'clock the following morning Glory's telephone was ringing. Drowsily she lifted the receiver, to hear Allan's voice.

"Hello, sweet! Are you awake?"

"I am now," she answered. "What's the matter, Allan? Is anything wrong?"

"Not a thing in the world except I've been thinking about you all night. Didn't sleep a wink."

"I don't believe it," laughed Glory.

"You will when you see how I look," retorted Allan. "Look, Glory, put on your slacks. We're going to drive up in the mountains and take our lunch. I'll be by for you in half an hour."

Glory took a shower and brushed the black hair in loose curls about her shoulders. She had acquired a pair of gray gaberdine slacks since her arrivel in Hollywood, which she wore with a blue angora sweater and a gray suede jacket. She gazed at her trim figure in the mirror with satisfaction. Never had beauty mattered more than when she was with Allan. He noticed every detail of her appearance with one quick glance.

She intended to leave a note for Helen, but when she sat down at the desk it seemed too difficult. She knew that Helen would disapprove of this all-day jaunt with the movie actor. After all, why should she have to explain? Finally she wrote: "I'll be back tonight. Don't worry, Glory."

It was one of Southern California's most beautiful mornings. The sweet, fresh air was drenched with sunshine and the mountains in the distance cast purple shadows over the horizon.

"Nature in technicolor," grinned Allan.

He drove recklessly, making hairpin turns on two wheels, but Glory only smiled. She was too happy to be afraid. They stopped at a tiny lunchroom for ham and eggs and coffee, sitting at the long counter on stools so high that Glory's feet dangled above the floor.

"Such a little girl!" laughed Allan and the tenderness in his voice thrilled her.

The wide-eyed young waitress inquired, "You're Allan Rhodes, aren't you?"

Allan flashed her a magnetic smile. "That's right!"

The girl smiled back adoringly. What a spell he cast over feminine hearts, Glory reflected, and she was no different from the rest of the million who sighed over his handsome face. For an instant Glory hated herself for being one of the multitude, but then of course her relationship with him was different! With her he was sincere! Even men like Allan fall in love. He was only human in spite of being the so-called "idol of the screen."

The little waitress hung over the counter watching every mouthful that Allan swallowed and when she disappeared for a moment he turned to Glory. "My public!" he whispered.

Glory smiled back as the waitress returned with a picture of Allan cut from a recent movie magazine.

"I keep it pinned up over my mirror," she confessed. "Would you autograph it for me, please, Mr. Rhodes?"

Allan consented graciously, "Certainly! What's your name?"

"Millie Turner"

The actor drew out his fountain pen and wrote, 'To Millie—with my best wishes." He signed it with a characteristic flourish and handed it back to the enraptured girl.

"She looks like I feel," thought Glory, "but I hope I don't show it as plainly as she does."

When they left Allan paid the check with a five-dollar bill.

"Keep the change, Millie."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Rhodes. Thank you very much," the waitress cried

"She'll be my friend for life," Allan told Glory as they drove away.

"You certainly were nice to her. Doesn't it ever annoy you to have people asking for autographs?"

"Jealous?" he teased.

"Of course not!"

Allan's expression grew serious. "I'll tell you, Glory. I feel that my fans are responsible for my success. Why shouldn't I be nice to them? Where would I be without their support? The least I can do is to be as pleasant and courteous as possible. It's part of my business."

* * *

Glory considered Allan was right. He did owe his public a great deal It was smart of him to realize it. Suddenly her annoyance with herself and the waitress slipped away. She tucked her arm into his.

"Your career means everything to you, doesn't it, Allan?"

"Yes," replied Allan quietly. "Everything!"

At noon they left the road, parked the car and walked to a secluded spot in the shade. Allan spread a rug, opened the leather case he carried, and displayed an elaborate lunch. Various sandwiches, two tins of caviar with imported biscuits, chicken, olives, fruit and cheese.

"You've got enough food for a family of ten," Glory laughed. "Why didn't you let me fix our lunch?"

"It just doesn't seem right to think of any one as beautiful as you are working in a kitchen," Allan replied.

Suddenly he took her in his arms and kissed her. "I love you, Glory," he said. "Do you understand? I love you!"

Glory hid her face against his shoulder. "Oh, Allan, I love you too—so much!"

For several moments they did not speak. The scene was as romantic as one in Allan's pictures. But this thought made Glory smile.

"Come on, darling, let's eat our lunch!"

"How can you speak of food at a moment like this?" complained Allan. 'Don't you realize," he added jokingly, that you are kissing the heartthrob of a million gals?"

"Can't you forget the movies? This is real!" Glory reminded him, thrilled by the implication of her own words.

Allan caught her hands in his. "Yes, sweet," he repeated, "this is real. . . ."

When Glory returned late that afternoon the desk clerk informed her that Miss Jamison wanted her to stop in her apartment. Glory was annoyed. She had promised to have dinner with Allan and was in no mood for explanations.

Helen was not alone. Honey Newton, the manicurist Glory had seen when she was with Helen and Scottie in a swanky restaurant, was sitting on Helen's daverport.

"Listen, baby," Helen informed her. "Mark has been trying to reach you all afternoon."

Honey flicked the ashes from the cigaret. "Mark Spencer?" she asked impudently.

Helen nodded and Honey's eyes turned to Glory. For a moment the girl had an uncanny sensation that Honey Newton was laughing at her. It was probably only her imagination but Glory had always been quick to sense other people's reactions. For the second time she felt both repelled and intrigued by this mysterious blond.

Glory sat down on the arm of Helen's chair. "I've been to the mountains," she informed them, adding recklessly, "with Allan Rhodes."

This time Honey made no attempt to conceal her surprise.

"Aiming a little high, aren't you?"

Glory shrugged. "And why not?"

"You haven't a chance. No one has with Allan. He's too conceited."

Glory smiled. No doubt Honey was envious. But when the other girl had gone Glory turned to Helen and asked, "What in the world was she doing here?"

"Don't ask me. She said she 'just happened' to be in the building and stopped in to say hello. Perhaps that's why she knows so much about Hollywood. She's always around gleaning bits of information. You shouldn't have told her that you were out with Allan Rhodes."

"It was Mark she seemed interested in," Glory reminded her. But before Helen could answer the telephone rang.

"It's Scottie," Helen reported. "He says for you to take a taxi and go to his office right away."

Glory threw a coat on over her slacks and left. It must be something very important for Scottie to ask her to come out at this hour.

He was waiting for her and his beaming smile told her that it was good news.

"Baby, you've made the grade! Your screen test was okay! I've got a nice crisp new contract right here on my desk. They're going to use you for a small part in a new picture going into production the first of the month!"

Glory sank into a chair. "Oh, Scottie, I can't believe it! I simply can't believe it!"

"It's true," Scottie assured her. "The whole thing is so wonderful." Glory murmured excitedly. A contract? It was like a dream!

"Well, that's how it's done," Scottie was saying. "First you have to make the right contacts. The impression you made on Max Cavell the day he caught you crying on the steps at the studio! is one of the reasons you got this contract. It's little things like that, which count. You're going places, Glory! We're going to make a star out of you! I know it, Max knows it, and so does Van That's why he's let you have all those clothes. You're going to the top, Baby! And we're going right along with you!"

DIAMOND MEN IN NEW START

Puerto Rico Proves Haven For Dutch Cutters Fleeing Nazis.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico. —(INS)—Diamond-cutting, removed from the Low Countries by the Nazi invasion, is getting a new start in the U. S. Territory of Puerto Rico, it was learned today.

Steve Reinhold, who for 18 years operated a diamond cutting plant in Antwerp, Belgium, has opened a new factory in Santurce, a suburb of San Juan. Reinhold visited many countries before deciding upon Puerto Rico, where he has been working in close co-operation with the Insular Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

This is the second diamond factory to be established in Puerto Rico.

The other is the Ponce Diamond Works, which has been cutting and polishing large diamonds for more than 15 years for such large continental diamond houses as Lazard Freres. The new factory will work with small size diamonds of the type used in wrist watches, brooches, wedding rings, etc.

Reinhold sees an unlimited future for the diamond-cutting industry in Puerto Rico if his plant succeeds. "And there is every reason to believe it will," he says.

BIOGRAPHY OF CHURCHILL NEW AT CITY LIBRARY

Volume By Kraus Deals With Man on Whose Shoulders England's Fate Rests.

A timely biography of "Winston Churchill" by Rene Kraus was added to the shelves at the Mansfield Public library this week.

The book deals with the "young man in a hurry" on whose shoulders now rests the fate of Great Britain and the democratic age Warrior, writer, prophet and statesman, Churchill captured the imagination of England while still in his twenties and in turn, the imagination of the world in his middle age

"Landfall" by Nevil Norway is a new novel, which tells a very old story, that of two young people who meet and fall in love. England and the Royal Air Force at war provide an authentic and exciting background for this romance, however.

NEW FICTION.

In a new novel, MR LITTLEJOHN, Martin Flavin tells the delightful story of a man who was wealthy but unhappy; his toothpaste business was in difficulty with the government and with labor, his family ignored him and his digestion was ruined In a moment of desperation he wrecked the furniture of his room and took to the road, disguised with a black mustache In his bizane flight across the country he encountered other eccentric migrants, was mistaken for a bandit, ate all the hamburgers he wanted, with great improvement to his digestion, and arranged his future in accord with his new philosophy that if life isn't amusing it is less than nothing

DAGO RED by John Fante is a collection of boisterous, highly flavored tales of an Italian family in a small western town, told by one of the young sons. They are fresh, unhackneyed, and sometimes irreverent, but always entertaining. Some of the stories appeared in magazines.

OTHER FICTION·

KNOCK MURDERER, KNOCK! by Rutland; JOURNEY THROUGH TIME, Barietto· THEY LEFT THE LAND, Jacob,

Late Non-Fiction TWIN STARS OF CHINA by Evans Carlson is a behind-the-scenes story of China's valiant struggle for existence told by a U S marine (the author) who lived and moved with the people. In his interviews and observations he found the Communists democratic and liberal in attitude, very different from the Russian variety A free China, he believes, may provide a real line of defense against the rise of totalitarianism. Parts appeared in magazines.

BORN IN PARADISE by Armine von Tempski is the story of her childhood and youth which was spent in an exotic setting—an enormous ranch on the slope of a Hawaiian volcano It was a life at once primitive and glamorous, with a sedate English mother, an adventurous Polish father, Japanese and Chinese servants, Hawaiian cowboys and crowds of visitors, and the author writes of it lovingly, in a high-keyed and rather ecstatic manner.

HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY by Bertita Harding is a romantic biography of Camille Feher de Vernet, once a popular light opera star in her native Hungary, who gave up the stage to care for her half-brother, and came to America before the war. Here their fortunes declined and they were on relief in California when chance brought a reunion with the biographer, the daughter of Camille's school-girl friend.

The library has also added to this week's list three new books interesting to play and theatrical readers. AMERICAN VAUDEVILLE by Gilbert, KNICKERBOCKER HOLIDAY, Anderson, THROUGH THE NIGHT, Ryerson. Also on this list, MY NAME IS MILLION, AUDELS WELDERS GUIDE, Graham; STORY OF TWENTIETH CENTURY EXPLORATION, Key, AN EMPIRE OF DUST Svobida; PLANE FUNDAMENTALS FOR FLYER'S LICENSE, Kutakoff; ANTHOLOGY OF PUBLIC SPEECHES comp by Platz· JUNGLE ISLANDS Shurcliff

JUST SPEAKER

Foreign Correspondent Wouldn't Know Excitement Cause.

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— "I wonder what kind of an attraction could have brought that mob here?' the little fat man at the San Francisco Press club asked Lloyd Lehrbas, Associated Press foreign correspondent.

"I don't know," Lehrbas replied, "but I'm going to be the speaker." The little fat man stole away, red-faced.

LIQUOR SALE IN BOULEVARDS UP TO STATE BOARD

Liquor Control Officials Due To Act on Dry Vote In Village Territory.

Continued sale of liquor and beer at South Boulevards only tavern following the dry vote at a local option election Nov. 5 in the village depended today on the action of the state board of liquor control.

Mrs. Margaret Rosecrans, who operates the tavern, said she had received no notice from the state board and would continue to operate with her liquor license until she is notified to surrender it.

The vote cast in the village in turning down the sale of beer and intoxicants has been certified to the state board which will notify the tavern owners when to stop selling, board of elections officials said. The unused balance of the $600 license must be returned to Mrs. Rosecrans, with the village of South Boulevards redeeming most of the amount.

Plans No Appeal.

Mrs. Rosecrans said she planned no appeal from the dry vote cast by residents of the village, but she added that "several persons have said they regretted seeing the village lose the money it received from the sale of the license."

The license, permitting the sale of beer and liquor, was issued last August. Mrs. Rosecrans said she had planned to take out a night club license which would have given the village nearly $1,000.

Voters in the residential community voted approximately 129 to 80 against the sale of beer or intoxicants of any kind in the community.

The Siamese have a double-reed musical instrument called "No."

TEMPORARY JOBS COVERED BY ACT

Workers Getting Holiday Work Need Social Security Numbers.

Workers who find temporary employment in stores or other commercial establishments during the holiday season are covered by the Social Security act and must have account numbers, Robert G. Mish, manager of the board's Mansfield field office warned today.

"Employers will also save time and trouble by making sure they get the numbers of all temporary workers before the employes leave their temporary jobs," Mish added.

"A worker who gets holiday employment in a store is covered under the old-age and survivers insurance plan, which includes all employers of one or more persons," he commented. "Any one who has never had a social security number may obtain one through the board office in the Richland Trust building or by filling an application used for the purpose at any postoffice."

'SUPER-FUEL'

Coal Washing and Oil Mixed In New Experiment.

MANHATTAN, Kas. —(U.P.)— An experiment leading to the development of a super-combustive "colloidal fuel," under the direction of Dr. J. E. Hedrick, instructor of chemical engineering at Kansas State College, has attracted inquiries from industrialists from throughout the United States and as far away as England.

Hedrick has mixed slack from coal washings, a waste product, with oil. Before the theory was developed two main problems arose.

One was to develop a method of keeping the coal from settling outside of oil mixture. The other was to find a method to grind coal cheaply.

The three-year experiment will be completed when collodial fuel is proven satisfactory under tests involving actual commercial conditions. Hedrick claims the fuel is cheaper than oil, has a higher heat value and is easier to handle than coal.

The mixture is 40 to 50 per cent slack from coal washings.

HEALTHY CLASS

ANN ARBOR —(INS)— New students at the University of Michigan this year are an exceptionally healthy group.

Medical examinations given at the opening of school to some 4,000 new students failed to reveal a single case of certainly active tuberculosis. On the basis of past records Health Service authorities had expected to find about 15 cases of the disease.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1940.

A critic complains that high school students don't think—but why pick on high school students?

Now that both Thanksgivings are over, Christmas shopping becomes much more imminent.

The problem of what to do about 15-year-old patrons who claim to be 21 is disturbing conscientious night club operators—who wouldn't, for anything, violate the law against selling to minors.

Mansfield In the Crime Picture

BEING a part of America, in which the annual cost of crime is estimated at around fifteen billion dollars, Mansfield can scarcely expect to escape at least an occasional appearance in the national crime picture.

Ordinarily the local manifestations of outlawry are along picayunish lines, such as breaking windows in a school building, tearing out parking meters, petty thievery and such so-called "minor" offenses.

Then a store window is smashed and diamonds stolen—next in order is a daylight robbery such as that committed yesterday at the Colonial Finance office on West Third street, during which the lives of employes were threatened with revolvers in the hands of bandits.

Such occurrences are not uncommon in large or small cities and may be expected from time to time, the wonder being that all institutions required to carry a considerable amount of cash and currency are not better prepared to circumvent such a crime, as is possible under modern protective methods.

It has not been kept a secret that Mansfield is underpoliced and that a considerable percentage of the police department personnel is required to keep tab on good citizens inclined to violate traffic regulations.

Speaking in Mansfield last Tuesday, W. L. Listerman, of Cleveland, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, commended the local police department and expressed confidence in the ability of Chief Meade K. Bates. If Mr. Listerman is correct in his estimate, and if the Mansfield police department is functioning to the reasonable limits of its present personnel—then Mansfield needs more policemen—as has been contended for the past several years.

Voluntary law observance would also reduce the need for policing motorists to the extent now being done.

Good Navy Requires Good Men

THE UNITED STATES NAVY gets most of its sailors from the inland states. They come from the Middle West, the rolling prairies and the high rockies. That is because there are fewer rejected men among the applicants from these regions. They meet the tests physically and otherwise, which is something to be proud of in view of the fact that three of every four applicants go out in the first rigorous physical test and one of every ten falls out in the intelligence test.

Once a young fellow gets into the navy, from whatever part of the country he comes, he gets little chance to settle down in a rut. Initiative and industry may carry him far. There are dozens of ratings toward which the beginner can climb.

Uncle Sam gives him plenty of opportunity to prove his quality, too. A great variety of study courses are available, with officer teachers, correspondence pamphlets, educational movies, and so on.

No wonder the sailor has a sense of ownership and pride in his ship and no wonder there has never been a mutiny from the time of John Paul Jones to the present.

Indiana's Governor-Elect Shocked

THE attitude of Governor-elect Henry F. Schricker, of Indiana, toward drunkenness at football games will be regarded by many as hypercritical, not to say old-fashioned.

The incoming chief executive of Indiana, it appears, attended the Indiana-Purdue game last Saturday, and later commented to the Indiana Town and City Administrators Association that "drunkenness was so prevalent at the game I was almost ashamed to have taken my son to see it."

It seems that Mr. Schricker was also quite shocked to see women at the game who were so intoxicated that they had to be carried from the stadium at the end of the game. "Lack of attention to ordinary morals is what is filling our institutions with inmates," he concluded.

The odd thing is that the governor-elect should consider drunken women at a football game as anything out of the ordinary. Not that a pifflicated female is a pleasant sight in any public gathering, but she is an apparently inescapable product of the new social order and must therefore be tolerated, if not admired.

While it may not be the actual intent of present-day liquor laws to develop drunkenness among women and encourage it among children, the methods employed in issuing licenses and failing in supervision are contributing quite obviously to that end.

As governor, Mr. Schricker may be able to do something about it in Indiana, but it might cut down revenues—which, in Ohio, seems to be the all important factor.

C. E. L.:— "I go to bed at night feeling all right, but wake up about 2 A. M. feeling tired and very thirsty. About 3 A. M. or 4 A. M. I feel a different person. Have I got night starvation?"

Answer—It is possible that you have some cyclic nutritional condition that results in symptoms at 2 A. M. It may be a disturbance of your utilization of sugar, which could be easily determined by any doctor by a glucose tolerance test. But the condition seems more a nervous form of insomnia. Things always look worse at night. Half the population gets up thinking they are not going to last through the day but at 4 P. M. they feel fine.

M. F. W.:—"What medicines will cause the trouble known as low count of the white corpuscles?"

Answer—Headache medicines contain amidopyrine. Careful inquiries as to whether a headache medicine includes this drug should always be made before using. Drug firms have stopped putting out such preparations but somebody occasionally finds an old bottle of headache medicine in the bathroom cabinet, with bad results.

M. C. S.:—"What do you do for ear itch and wax with bad odor in the ear?"

Answer—This is either due to infection of the inner ear with discharge, or eczema of the ear. The wax can be softened by oil and the eczema treated by pledgets of cotton saturated with zinc oxide ointment, but either condition is best treated by a specialist who uses an ear speculum and can see the exact condition.

F. L., Lansing, Ill.—"I have a callous on the bottom of my foot. It keeps getting larger and bothers me a great deal in hot weather."

Answer: What you describe is plantar wart—a form of wart that resembles a corn, having a soft center with a ring of horny tissue around it. Treatment is very exact. None of the old methods of treatment, including cauterization and surgery, are of any value. Small plantar warts are treated by X-ray. Larger ones by [illegible] dessication.

BROAD ATTACK AGAINST ITALY BEING PLANNED

Britain Starts Total War at Sea, Claims It Controls Mediterranean.

picture offered identification of the 35,000-ton battleship claimed by the British to have been torpedoed in the battle off Sardinia as the crack new Vittorio Veneto, but the official Italian news agency Stefani declared that the Vittorio Veneto "dodged" the only aerial torpedo launched at it.

(Stefani went on to say that only a destroyer was damaged and two British cruisers of the Kent and Birmingham types damaged by eight-inch shells and forced to flee.)

German Ships Leave Tampico

TAMPICO, Mexico —(AP)— Two German merchant ships, apparently bent on an attempt to run the British blockade, steamed out to sea today blowing their whistles as they slipped down the Panuco river.

The 5,033-ton Idarwald entered the open sea, sailing eastward, at 8:19 a. m., while the 6,031-ton Rhein followed several miles in her wake. They had found haven here since early in the war.

Both ships were reported carrying limited cargoes of fuel and provisions.

Both ships filled all clearance requirements last night. The Iderwald gave Vigo, Spain, as her destination and the Rhein said she was headed for Tenerife, in Spain's Canary islands

These ships were among four which tried unsuccessfully to dash to sea Nov 15, turning back when the sighted warships offshore which they believed to be British. Later it developed that United States destroyers had been on neutrality patrol in those waters.

The crew of one of the ships in the earlier dash, the 4137-ton Phrygia, scuttled her The fourth vessel, the Orinoco, was undergoing repairs.

There was speculation that the ships might be planning to keep a rendezvous with German war vessels.

Three United States neutrality patrol vessels were visible yesterday, several miles off shore, but it was too dark this morning to tell if they were still there.

There was no explanation from German officials concerning the ship's movements.

Shrapnel Rained On Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, England— (U P) — Shrapnel fell in the streets like rain for more than eight hours last night while a seemingly endless curtain of anti-aircraft shells rose into the sky at almost continuous waves of German planes.

Severe damage was done to some commercial property and many homes in the working class district were wrecked as bombs showered down on this Britain's second largest port to which come ships of the world with food, munitions and war equipment Officials asserted that the damage reported in a preliminary survey was not extensive and casualties were "generally believed not heavy."

The raiders first showered the city with incendiary bombs, starting fires in widely scattered areas. The fires were quickly extinguished, however, by fire fighters and raid precautions workers who battled the flames despite bombs and shrapnel.

In one Merseyside borough a heavy bomb crashed in an industrial area, damaging residential and commercial property

In one Liverpool residential area a high explosive bomb crashed near an apartment house, shattering all its windows and injuring some of its residents

Italians Bomb Corfu Island

ATHENS Greece— (U P) — Italian destroyers bombarded the north coast of Corfu island, but "stole away under cover of a smoke screen" when Greek-British airplanes neared the scene, a war communique said today

(At London, Exchange Telegraph dispatches from Athens said Greek fighting planes had encountered eight Italian planes this morning and shot down all of them. [illegible] Telegraph dispatches said the Greeks had started an offensive on the central front Wednesday night breaking through Italian lines and dispersing a Fascist regiment called 'A La Mort' [illegible]

Only cursory reports of the situation at the front were given out by official [illegible]

(There was no confirmation of reports from the Jugoslav border town of Sarya that Greeks had captured Argyokastron, main Italian base in South Albania, after an hour's hand-to-hand battle in the streets.

(A dispatch from Salonika, Greek eastern port, said reports from the front indicated that Italy intended using the [illegible] port of Santa Giovanna in Modia as a supply base for troops and materials to be brought from Italy to reinforce the crumbling south and central fronts. The port is in the extreme north of Albania, but is slightly less accessible to Greek and British bombing planes which have been attacking Durazzo and Valona, the two leading Albanian ports, regularly.)

New Dog Tags on Sale Monday for Rover and Shep

It's time to get a new dog tag again for Rover and Old Shep.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the new tags will go on sale Monday at his office in the courthouse. In Shelby they will be handled by G. W. Armstrong.

The price will be the same as last year, or—$1 for male and spayed female dogs and $3 for female animals.

Wolfe said tags may be ordered by mail from his office by including the proper amount of money and a description of the dog for which the license is purchased, including age, sex, and breed.

More than 6,000 licenses were sold in the county last year. Funds from the sale of tags are used for operation of the county dog pound, to pay the dog warden's salary, and for sheep claims

DEFENSE PLANT STRIKE ENDED

Aluminum Workers Return To Jobs on Compromise Agreement.

(By United Press)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa.—The 7,500 CIO union workers of the vast New Kensington plant of the Aluminum Company of America returned to their jobs today, ending a week-long strike which tied up the production of aluminum needed for national defense.

They accepted a compromise agreement worked out by the national defense advisory commission, company officials and Philip Murray, the new president of the CIO.

The union workers walked out last Friday, demanding that the company discharge or transfer a $26 80 a week sheet mill worker who was behind in his union dues and who allegedly threatened a union official who tried to collect them

The compromise strike settlement agreement which the union accepted last night provides that the recalcitrant union man will be transferred from the sheet mill to the boiler house at nearby Logan's Ferry, but will still remain within the bargaining unit of the union. The union previously had demanded that he go to a department outside union jurisdiction.

ITALIANS LOSE MUCH MATERIAL

Leave Pogradetz In Hurry, Throwing Away Arms and Ammunition.

served about the present situation.

In reality, there is no front, and fighting, spread over a wide area far into the snow-covered mountains, is being carried on mostly by small units.

These detachments operate more or less independently and communications are so poor it is impossible for commanders even in the immediate sector to know the exact situation.

Military leaders even in this advanced post are unable to tell just how far beyond here their forces have penetrated into the wild mountains

They say, however, that their forces far to the north and west of Pogradetz are meeting no concerted resistance.

There is one report that Greek artillery is shelling remnants of the Parma and Venezia divisions but that is as definite as anything I have been able to learn.

I am writing this dispatch on a typewriter used only a few days ago by an Italian officer who apparently left hurriedly. A half-written letter was found in the machine.

I left the Green city of Ioannina yesterday and drove where the Albanian frontier crosses the river Aoos. The bridge was destroyed there. I crossed by raft and went the rest of the way to Koritza by motorcycle

Greek forces apparently were well into Albania the entire way for nowhere along the whole route did I even hear artillery fire

First British Troops In Greece

Under the command of General Wavell, center, the vanguard of British troops arriving to assist the Greeks in their war with Italy is seen in this radiophoto disembarking at an unnamed Grecian port.

ONE MORE DAY

Hunters Have Last Chance To Bag Pheasants Tomorrow.

Richland county's 4,000 hunters will get their last chance to bag their limit in pheasants, grouse, and partridges tomorrow as open hunting season on the birds closes.

However, the search for cotton tails will continue through Jan. 1 and the trapping season on mink and muskrat in the inland Ohio district will open Sunday and continue until Jan. 15. Skunk and raccoon may also be taken until Jan. 15.

County Game Protector C I Kimmel warned hunters today that open season dates for trapping will be rigidly enforced in the county.

In the Lake Erie district, the mink and muskrat season starts Dec 15 and runs until March 15. Counties in this district include Lucas, Cuyahoga, Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Lorain, Lake and Ashtabula.

DIES CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

Promises Co-operation With FDR In Combatting Subversion.

president has severely criticized the committee many times. Dies has repeatedly accused the administration of shielding Communists and of failure to deport CIO Leader Harry Bridges.

Today's meeting was requested by the president who asked Dies to return from his home in Orange, Tex., to discuss co-ordination of all the government's anti-fifth column activities. The request followed a bitter exchange of statements between Dies and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson over the merits and efficiency of the justice department's campaign against subversive elements.

Administration officials expected the Dies-Roosevelt conference to develop a heated discussion of the Dies committee's methods of procedure, publicity and investigation. They declined to predict whether the two would be able to find a basis for "burying the hatchet."

It was expected that Dies and Mr. Roosevelt would discuss principally the issues raised by Mr. Roosevelt's telegram of two days ago. In that the president admitted the committee's authority to conduct investigations, but warned that premature publicity and seizure of evidence might hamper the effective work of government agencies whose duty it is to arrest and prosecute spies and saboteurs. Mr Roosevelt emphatically stated then that enforcement of the law was the job of executive department agencies, not of the Dies committee

CHOOSE ANNIVERSARY FOR FORMAL WEDDING

Miss Wilma Dillon, Harold Foss Exchange Vows Before Altar of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

ON THE 23rd wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Dillon, sr., Miss Wilma Magdalene Dillon became the bride of Harold John Foss yesterday evening in a candlelight ceremony at 8:30 o'clock before the altar of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. Mr. Foss is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Foss, 204 South Franklin avenue.

Preceding the exchange of vows, Mrs. Helen Heston presided at the organ playing "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin, "At Dawning" by Cadman, Baldwin's "Orange Blossoms," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert and Stults' "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." She also played the traditional wedding marches by Mendelssohn and Wagner. Mrs. John Gross was the vocal soloist, and her selections were "I Love You Truly" by Bond and DeKoven's "O Promise Me."

Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony before the church altar, which was banked with palms and ferns and two beauty baskets of chrysanthemums and lighted by two seven-branch candelabra.

The bride was attired in a gown of off-white slipper satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, full leg-o-mutton sleeves, a fitted bodice and long train. Her double virgin veil was held in place by a pearl tiara, and her only jewelry was a cameo brooch. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

Miss Margaret Hawks was the maid-of-honor, and she wore a peacock blue taffeta dress trimmed with wine velvet bows. Mrs. Harlan Weimer, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron-of-honor, and her pearl gray gown combined a tailored braided bodice with a full tulle skirt. The Misses Martha Phillipon and Frances Beamer were the bridesmaids, and their marquisette gowns were of aqua and yellow, each highlighted with a sash in the color of the other's dress. All of the attendants wore clusters of gardenias in their hair and carried colonial bouquets.

Mr. Foss chose his bride's brother, Frederick L. Dillon, jr., to be his best man. Another brother of the bride, William M. Dillon, Harvey W. Comer, John Gross and Steve Yanoshek were the ushers.

Mrs. Dillon appeared at her daughter's wedding wearing a soldier blue dress of alpaca crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Foss wore a royal blue velvet dress with black accessories, and both women's shoulder corsages were of American Beauty roses.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception for 25 friends and relatives was held at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road. Beauty baskets of flowers decorated the home, and the luncheon table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Foss now are taking a wedding trip to Geneva, N. Y., where they will visit with the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hartman. For traveling, the bride wore an olive green crepe dress with brown accessories. After Dec. 4, the couple will be at home to friends in an apartment on South Main street.

The former Miss Dillon, whose home address was 412 Fifth avenue, is a graduate of Madison high school. She has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Foss was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, and now is the parts manager at "Mud" Gardner's garage.

Each place was marked by a vari-colored cornucopia filled with candy corn, and the napkins, and room decorations carried out the autumnal theme. Miss Olga Luich led the devotions.

The hunt prize was won by Rev. H. L. Gilbert and his group which included Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodrow Seitz and the Misses Louise Aungst and Helen Boyer. Gordon Schwan showed four reels of film which he had taken on a Florida vacation.

MANSFIELD has a promising young artist at DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind. . . . He's Robert Spear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brinkerhoff Spear, and recently he won honors in an art contest. ...His winning drawing, done in Wolff's pencil, was an action picture of a football player. . . . Bob is a senior at the university and an art major, and following graduation next June, he plans to enter the field of newspaper sport drawings and cartoons. . . . In fact, he is doing his seminar work along this line now.

The morning mail brought a picture postcard from Mrs. Jack McKnight, who's living down in Gulfport, Miss., now. . . . She and her young daughter, Sandra, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. L. Baughman, drove down recently to see Mr. McKnight, who's stationed at Camp Shelby with the National Guard. . . . Mrs. Baughman has since returned to this city, but Mrs. McKnight and Sandra plan to reside in Gulfport until Mr. McKnight's service is completed. . . . Mrs. McKnight writes that she likes it there very much and that she thinks Mississippi the most beautiful state she's ever been in. . . . Oh yes, and if you'd like to drop her a line or a Christmas card, her address is 1106 33rd avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Connors docked in New York City this week aboard the Moore-McCormack liner "Uruguay," which brought them from the east coast of South America. . . . AND speaking of returning vacationists, Mrs. Helen S. Flood has just come back from New York City, where she spent several days visiting with her daughter, Elizabeth, and her son, John. . . . I might add too, that Elizabeth is planning to come home for Christmas....Some other vacationing Mansfielders are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tyree and Marshall Stevens, who recently explored the famous Endless Caverns at New Market, Va., while taking a motor trip through the Shenandoah valley.

UNDOUBTEDLY it will interest many music lovers to know that noted personalities of the music profession will feature the non-profit Music Teachers' National association's 64th annual meeting in Cleveland from Dec. 28 to 31, with headquarters at the Hotel Statler. ...On the opening night, Karl Grossman will lead the Philharmonic orchestra in a program of new works by American composers.... Important forums and meetings dealing with practically every aspect of music activity are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday....Among the important personages to appear are Lincoln Kirstein of the American School of Ballet, Alec Templeton, Sir Ernest MacMillen and many others....The first American performance of a Haydn opera will be given under the direction of Karl Geiringer—a very special highlight, indeed.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I started violently as Dicky gave voice to the suspicion that had been brewing in my own mind concerning the connection of Carolyn Bixton, Marion's roomie at college, with her disappearance.

"Why do you say that?" I parried.

"So that is the meat in the cocoanut," he said reflectively. "But spill me the reasons for thinking she's mixed up in it."

"First," I said slowly, "because she's the only person Marion might have reason to think needed shielding. All her older relatives and friends are now sober and set in their ways—"

"Unless," Dicky pointed out, "somebody who knows of Lil's and Harry's connection with Dad's activities, might have got to her with some cock and bull story about danger threatening her mother and stepfather. You know Marion would go away out on a limb for either of them."

I clasped my hands tightly to stop their quivering. This explanation had not occurred to me, and its hideous possibilities sent ice slithering down my spine.

"You mean," I faltered, "that criminals who want revenge on Lil or Harry for their activities have succeeded in getting Marion into their power."

"I wish your imagination was not so active," my husband said ruefully. "I hadn't reached that point yet, but it's a perfectly plausible possibility. I mention it only as an alternative to your dope on Carolyn. I wouldn't let go that thread, however."

"I don't intend to," I said. "And I'm not losing sight of Ronald either."

"You don't think she's shielding him?" Dicky almost shouted in amazement. "If ever there was a square shooter who simply couldn't get into disgraceful scrapes, it's that lad."

"No, I don't think Ronald is mixed up in any scrape," I said, "but he's had some letter or message from Marion that he's keeping to himself, and that is just about killing him."

"And I suppose you mean to try to get it out of him," my husband exclaimed.

"When I can see him, I certainly shall do that very thing," I said stoutly.

"You know who 'rush in' where the angels dawdle on the threshold?" he asked. "But who am I to cavil, when you wouldn't heed the caviling? Go to it, old dear, but—watch your step!"

"I intend to," I told him, and he waited for a long minute before he spoke again.

"Did you tell me Harry was out of town?" he asked.

"That is what Lillian said."

"Who is with her?"

"I telephoned Miss Whitlock and told her to go over and stay until I reached there."

"You do think of things, don't you?" he said and this time there was no mistaking the admiration in his tone.

"The reason I'm asking is this," he said. "You won't need me with Lil. You'll be able to manage her much better without me. Oh! of course I'll go in with you, so she'll see I'm on the job, but after I've asked her a question or two about Harry's whereabouts. I'll get busy, and try to locate him. I have dozens of ways of finding out where he is, that Lil naturally wouldn't have. So we'll divide the labor. You look after Lil, and I'll try to find Harry. Okay?"

"I sounds all right to me," I said, and as if by mutual unspoken assent we discussed our perplexing errand no more, speaking instead of a dozen other matters of interest to us, while Dicky sent the car along at top speed.

I found myself quaking as we went up in the elevator, for I knew well what manner of frantic, grief-torn woman I should have to face when we reached the Underwood apartment. But when we stepped out of the hall we saw that the door of the apartment was slightly ajar and discerned Miss Whitlock behind it.

She rose as we advanced, and came swiftly and noiselessly into the hall.

"I've been watching for you," she murmured. "Without her knowing it, I gave her a powerful opiate, and she's asleep. But I want you, Mrs. Graham, to come in and sit beside her so that your face will be the first thing she sees when she awakes. She's been awaiting your coming so anxiously."

"The Authority on Authorities"

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

WE ARE all pleased when one of our sacrifice bids works out as we expected, when it proves that the opponents could have made their contract and we are beaten exactly the number of tricks we reckoned. How much more pleasing it is if we find some kind of play in the hand to produce the additional trick or tricks needed to make the contract which had been intended as a deliberate sacrifice.

B. Jay Becker, one of the most thorough thinkers among national tournament players, reckoned that his hand, with a bare opening bid, probably would not produce a game if North was not strong enough for 3-Hearts on his first turn, so passed the 2-Hearts. When East later bid the 3-Spades, Mr. Becker estimated that the strong vulnerable bidding by West assured the safety of that contract, so intended to sacrifice by one trick when he bid his game.

Things looked up with West's lead of the diamond 9 to the Q and K, whereupon the brilliant declarer planned an end play, which could be made if East's marked singleton in clubs was any honor. So he took two trumps in dummy, cashed the diamond A, led to the heart K, ruffed the diamond J with dummy's last trump and led the club 2, felling the Q with the A. The club 9 to the J then put West in. He also cashed his club K, but then had to choose between leading a club to dummy's good 10 or taking his spade A. He did the latter, setting up the K and making the contract for Mr. Becker.

What bidding would you recommend for North and South on this deal, if they were "shooting for a top" in a tournament?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Nov. 30.

While this is bound to be a lively day, with probably much moving about, change, and variation in plans and objectives, judging by the influencing planets. Much precaution and sagacity will be needed to avert pitfalls, treachery, fraud, all sorts of undercover efforts to thwart and undermine pretentious ambitions. Keep alert to several petty snares and schemes, meeting such with corresponding vigilance, intrigue and smoothness, possibly on the "dog-eat-dog" policy, pernicious but sometimes enforced or justified.

Those whose birthday it is although having a lively and exciting year, will be obliged to exercise much strategy, discretion, and vigilance. To avert snares, schemes, treacheries and other forms of sinister intent.

A child born on this day may have sufficient intelligence to handle difficult and tricky situations, but its own strategic and secret propensities may plunge it into peculiar or questionable involvements.

Budget Leaders Study Higher Taxes for Defense Cost

NON-MILITARY EXPENDITURES SLICE PLANNED

Financial Experts To Meet With Roosevelt; Debt Increase Urged.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Over cigars and coffee at the White House tonight, President Roosevelt and seven administration financial experts plan to discuss the advisability of seeking higher taxes and lower non-military appropriations, to help finance the national preparedness program.

Invitations to the informal dinner and the equally informal discussion to follow went to Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Assistant Secretary Sullivan, Budget Director Smith, Senators Harrison (D-Miss) and George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee, and Representatives Doughton (D-N. C.) and Cooper (D-Tenn) of the House Ways and Means committee.

Harrison and Doughton are chairmen of the congressional committees that handle revenue legislation.

President Roosevelt and his fiscal advisers seemed in agreement that non-military budget items must be cut to the bone.

In addition, several of the Democratic revenue leaders in congress have come out for general increases in taxes to help, at least, balance the "normal" or domestic budget and possibly to take care of some of the increased outlays for defense.

While expenditures in the current fiscal year ending next June 30, have been estimated at around $13,500,000,000, congress approved appropriations and authorizations for this and future years totaling more than $20,000,000,000. Some congressmen predicted the 1941-42 budget may call for upwards of $15,000,000,000.

Others have estimated a saving of $500,000,000 or more in non-defense appropriations.

Administration leaders have some hope of balancing the normal budget aside from defense, but no one in authority has ventured an opinion on how much, if any, of the emergency defense spending will be met by higher revenues.

Hence, Secretary Morgenthau has favored raising the public debt limit from $49,000,000,000 to around $65,000,000,000 to take care of any new deficits.

Some tax leaders have hinted a general hike in individual and corporation income levies, a revision of the excess profits tax structure, removal of existing exemptions on federal, state and municipal bonds, boosting the soft drink tax, and increasing some of the other miscellaneous excise levies.

Beratowiz was employed by E. A. Hocher, a Galion contractor, and had been working in Marion until the time of his arrest there yesterday by police. Nation's Traffic Toll Exceeds Last Year's

SEE INCREASE FOR 1940 OF 2,000 DEATHS

Safety Council Reports Only One Month Falls Below 1939 Figures.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The national safety council predicted today that the nation's 1940 traffic toll would exceed last year's, possibly by as much as 2,000.

Heading into the dangerous Christmas season, America has a 10 months' toll of 27,360 deaths, compared with 25,750 in the same period of 1939, the council said.

In October occurred 3,560 deaths, four per cent more than the 3,420 in the previous October, the report added.

Traffic deaths for the remainder of the year must be cut one-fourth to bring the total down to the 32,600 of 1939, the council reported, adding that this "is improbable—even impossible in the face of current trends unless every driver and pedestrian makes it a personal responsibility to avoid traffic tragedy."

The December traffic toll, usually the year's worst, zooms upward for three reasons, the council said: (1) bad weather and slippery roads; (2) darkness during evening rush hour traffic swollen by Christmas shoppers; and (3) more drinking during the holiday season, plus hurry, confusion and excitement.

July, with a three per cent increase, was the only month of the past 13 that has shown a reduction from the same month a year previously.

Increase in travel this year has almost kept pace with the traffic death rise, however, so that the 1940 mileage death rate thus far is only one per cent above 1939, the report added.

Bridgeport, Conn., with a population of 147,300, was the largest city reporting a perfect October record. Only 57 cities had unblemished records for the first 10 months, with Lakewood, O., the largest on this list.

Up and Down THE STREET

For the second consecutive year the Richland County Farm Bureau received the banner for having the most members at the annual state Farm bureau convention in Columbus yesterday. More than 60 attended from Richland county, 30 of them making the trip in a special bus. The attendance award is made on the basis of the number present from a county and the distance they had to travel to Columbus.

Louis J. Alber, world traveler and friend of Prime Minister Winston Churchil, who will speak at the 21st annual Auto club banquet tonight, will be living up to his reputation this week-end. Last night, Alber spoke before the Advertising club of New York City, leaving New York for Mansfield immediately after the close of his speech. As soon as he finishes his talk at the Mansfield-Leland tonight, he will catch a train for Washington, D. C., where he's scheduled for an address Saturday. Alber will speak here on "The Irresistible Churchill."

With the advent of real winter weather the problem of heating becomes a difficult one for the poor families of the city and the pleas for wood or coal burning stoves are many. The Mansfield Service league needs stoves of this type badly, according to Mrs. R. R. Black, jr., president of the league. In one particular case there is a two weeks old baby in the family and a three-burner kerosene stove is being used for heating purposes. There are other children in the family. Mrs. Black said today the need for children's snow suits, coats and shoes was urgent because of the weather.

Mansfielders bent on seeing the Bromfield-Hawkins Community play next Tuesday almost didn't get a chance to get their tickets today as the board was placed on the Mansfield-Leland hotel lobby. Harvey Bailey, who handles the sale, stepped out of the doorway at the Farmer's bank building this morning, skidded on the slippery sidewalk and the tickets were gone with the wind. There was a mad scramble as Bailey and several passersby retrieved the flying ducats.

The lamb weighing 100 pounds brought the Lintner girl $101 in addition to the first prize cup.

The lamb sold for 26 cents more per pound than the champion steer of the show which was exhibited by Helen Strine, 20, of Waldo, Marion county. Selling for 75 cents a pound, the steer weighed 1,210, however, and brought its owner more than $900.

At the Ohio Farm Bureau convention in Columbus yesterday, W. E. Stough of Springfield township was among the seven state Farm Bureau trustees who were re-elected.

The organization was to conclude its meeting today with the election of officers and the adoption of resolutions. Perry L. Green of Hiram was virtually certain of re-election as president.

The group was expected to approve resolutions on a proposed state income tax to replace the sales tax, increased personnel of the state highway patrol, and a stand against reapportionment.

"Darling, it must feel terrible leaving your parents after so MANY, MANY years together!"

Bill Robinson carries his dancing shoes in a satchel. . . . When Joan Blondell gets too curvy, she diets on black coffee and buttermilk. . . . Hannah Williams doesn't make an important move without consulting a local crystal gazer. . . . Genius Gene Fowler left quite a well-paying writing job because it didn't give him enough time to go to the ball games.

Since Milton Berle got his Variety column (which is really very funny) he's the only columnist extent who goes around from club to club looking like a movie-reporter with a notebook and black pencil, asking everyone "What's new?" He must have the Hollywood citizens daffy.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., always looks as though he had had plenty of orange juice when he was a little boy. . . . Cary Grant lifts his eyebrows when he's relaxing, not when he's shocked. . . . Dorothy Lamour uses both oil dubbed on her arms instead of perfume. Says it lasts longer.

Lindy, proprietor of Broadway's most Broadway restaurant, has the best definition to date of Walt Disney's "Fantasia." Lindy says "It's like going to Carnegie Hall, only you get a few laughs."

Ed Wynn, who makes children howl at his matinees, and adults howl at the evening performances, and critics fall into the aisles on opening nights, is always a little sad when he's off the stage.

Joan Crawford and Ginger Rogers both owe their success, in a way, to a strange dance called the Charleston, which girls old enough to have been called "flappers" in the twenties might recall. Ginger won a Charleston contest in Texas, and that launched her on her stage career—and Joan was doing the torrid dance at the Club Richman in New York when Joe Schenck saw her and signed her.

Jimmy Dorsey is the champion ice cream eater of the swing maestros. . . . Boris Karloff doesn't like seeing himself on the screen because he scares himself.

Louis B. Mayer, the big picture producer, worries more about the newest rhumba step than he does about his "A" productions. . . . Phyllis Brooks calls everyone "Darling." The boys don't mind a bit. . . . Will Bradley, the "Beat Me Daddy" band leader, is thrilled by voodoo lore. He carries a leopard's tooth in his wallet.

Ballerina Zorina, of "Louisiana Purchase," enjoys sitting cross-legged when she eats and has a specially built low table for close-to-the-ground dining. It's a little tough on less athletic friends.

Robert (Believe It or Not) Ripley wears bow ties because he can't be bothered tying the four-in-hand kind. . . . Ted Straeter's two Scotties, Porgy and Bess, always dine in restaurants when he does. . . . Oscar Hammerstein 2nd eats only one kind of potatoes—French fried. . . . Jack Pearl wouldn't feel snug in anything but a camel's hair coat.

Helen Menken likes to recall her first stage performance when she was four years old and played a "wave." Her job was to run across a stage under a canvas ocean and make it ripple.

Mickey Rooney has terrible trouble with his coiffure. Pieces of it just won't stay slicked. . . . Eddie Davis, the 52nd St. bonvivant for the out-of-towners on the loose, tosses his gags right on the line and right out of the joke books, but in his secret heart he is a subtle fellow, and in his private life he collects Noel Coward records.

Dick Merrill, the ace, is shy. . . . Virginia Cherneval and her sister Mildred, both Broadway beauties, used to think nothing of going "steady" with the same fellow. One would meet him at nine, the other at midnight. . . . Edgar Bergen sits at night club tables and talks funny talk with a perfectly straight—even doleful face.

Ann Sheridan is the kind of girl men call "Annie" and order ham and eggs for. . . . Stan Shaw, the Milkman's Matinee mike-man, looks like a bank teller whose hours are 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. . . . Norma Shearer's hair, which looks dark brown in films, is pinky-gold at parties.

The Rance of Sarawak does her own cooking. . . . Jimmy Cagney, who is—and looks—Irish, astonishes people by talking fluently in Yiddish. . . . Cecil B. DeMille likes to put on black tie and stiff bosom for dinner even when he dines alone.

Sinclair Lewis' best imitation is one of H. G. Wells discussing English literature with Arnold Bennett. . . . John Hammond, the swing expert, reads magazines and newspapers in night clubs between floor shows.

Some of the interesting people you meet are "camera-eyed," and remember a face even though they've seen it only once, fleetingly in the crowd. Jim Farley is perhaps the most "camera-eyed" person in America. . . . Detective Johnny Broderick can spot one of "the boys" in a Madison Square Garden mob, on the street at midnight, or in a crowded subway train.

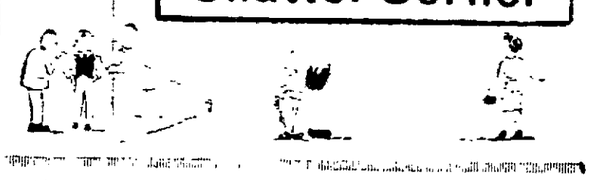
Babe Ruth is just the opposite—he can't remember the names of his best friends sometimes, and has resorted to calling everyone "kid" to cover up his bad memory.

Toscanini likes to listen to records made by swing bands. . . . Mae West has the only truly violet eyes in Hollywood. . . . Gary Cooper still has clippings on his now-forgotten romance with Lupe Velez, which was one of the sagas of Hollywood in the days when "glamour" was "it." . . . Morton Downey collects religious medals.

John (Ballad For Americans) La Touche has a camera-mad kitten. The little cat is what the picture-snapping boys call a "lens louse;" it contrives to look magnificently photogenic when the cameras are around, but the rest of the time it will do nothing but yawn and drowse.

Sammy Kaye has four batons made out of an Ohio university goal post. . . . Hazel Richman, Harry's wife, owns some of the most fabulous jewels in town. Sometimes she wears almost all of them at once—and in the middle of the priceless emerald and diamonds, she sticks a Red Cross for the out-of-towners on the button.

Chatter Corner



(Just gossipings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Ann Mackey standing clear as splashing automobiles while waiting to cross a slush-covered street . . . Marabelle Linham with her young son Ted doing some down town Christmas shopping.

Joseph Scanlon back from the CIO convention in Atlantic City packing his bag for a hurried trip to Toledo and Cleveland. . . . Patrolman C. W. Kyler "counting the cash" as money for police ball tickets still rolls into police headquarters.

* * *

Franklin Schaffer back in Mansfield for a few days' vacation . . . Don D. Cram, plagued with a bad cold, trying to keep warm in front of the fire in the Y. M. C. A. building. . . . "Pinky" Stimmler trying to figure out all the answers to the questions asked in his draft questionnaires. . . . Gene Zeiker, former Mansfield football star and Ohio State student, explaining to friends what's wrong with the Ohio State football set-up.

* * *

Gen Con Swan telling friends that he and the missus will soon start their winter trek to Florida. . . . Mrs. Ephraim Brown making a call at the doctor's office because of a sore throat. . . . Mrs. John W. Graham, recently elected commissioner of Girl Scouts, sporting a trim new Scout-green uniform with all the trimmings at a council pow-wow . . . Friends calling on Phyllis Oster, former society editor of The News-Journal, now at the Richland T. B. san, to remind her that Wednesday was her birthday.

* * *

Earl Nist turning up his coat collar against a heavy flurry of snow at a Walnut street intersection. . . . Two of his old friends talking over a letter recently received from Gordon Brandy, ex-Mansfielder, now with the Toledo Scale company at Akron.

Texas Scores In Opening Minute to Beat Aggies

Ruins Bowl Bids

Aerial Attack Knocks Club From Undefeated List; Brown Ties Columbia.

By PAUL SCHEFFELS

NEW YORK- (AP)—The 1940 collegiate football season which brought bitter disappointment to an unprecedented number of teams and high honors to only a few, comes to a close tomorrow with three elevens- Stanford, Tennessee and Boston College striving for sectional championships.

* * *

Bowl invitations for all three, so far unbeaten and untied, will be at stake as the other two surviving perfect record teams, Minnesota and Lafayette, rest after completing their schedules.

Top game of the day so far as crowd appeal goes will be the Army-Navy classic. Lacking any particular importance, the contest between the two service elevens will attract over 100,000 fans because of its colorful pageantry. Navy is a heavy favorite because Army has won but one game this season.

But it's on the other three games that bids to post-season Bowl extravaganzas hinge. Stanford, surprise team of 1940, can sew up the Pacific Coast title and Western Rose Bowl bid by defeating the tough California Golden Bears in their traditional encounter. The Bears have improved steadily and should cause trouble. If Stanford wins it will be the seventh straight conference triumph for the team that won only one game last year.

The season's second Thanksgiving day schedule, while numerically small, served up an exciting prologue to Saturday's finale when Texas humbled mighty Texas A & M.

Never in the history of the Southwestern conference has a champion repeated and as a result of yesterday's upset one of two teams - Southern Methodist or Rice—may tie the Aggies for the title.

The Aggies' record is five and one while both SMU and Rice have won three and lost one with two to go. If both elevens win tomorrow, then the victor in their Dec. 7 meeting will tie with the Aggies.

Texas scored the only touchdown in the first minute of play. After taking the kickoff on the 35 Layden passed 32 yards to Crain on the first down.

* * *

Another pass fell incomplete, then Layden tossed to Doss on the one-foot line and drove through center on the next play to score. Crain converted.

* * *

Only other important results were Columbia 0 Brown 0 Arkansas 27, Tulsa 21 Kansas 26 Colorado State 0.

Angelo Scheduled To Meet Benchuk Monday.

Martini Angelo, Buffalo grappler, returns to Mansfield Monday night to meet Johnny Benchuk of Canada in the feature match on Promoter Bob Steele's weekly wrestling show at the Saprano-Doehla Athletic club. In the semi-final affair, Bob Castle of New York city will clash with the "Black Panther" of Louisville, Ky. The preliminary bout will be announced later.

Here's Touchdown That Defeated Aggies

Pete Layden, fullback of the University of Texas grid team, is pictured plunging over the Texas A. & M. goal line for the only touchdown of the battle, handing the Aggies their first defeat in 19 games. This startling upset of the here-to-fore highly-rated Aggies may ruin their chances of meeting the west coast champions at the famed Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Lutherans Dominate A. P. All-Ohio Team

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Eight seniors, two juniors and a lone sophomore entered football's hall of fame today as they were voted to the first team of the Associated Press 1940 all-Ohio Conference squad.

* * *

Wittenberg's Lutherans, state and conference champions, won three berths on the starting eleven, while Muskingum's reposed champions snared two places. Single posts went to stars from Ohio Northern, Denison, Heidelberg, Wooster, Kent State and Bowling Green.

CHATLAIN SELECTED

Ed Chatlain, erstwhile Mansfield high football and baseball star, and varsity end on the Wittenberg college team, was named at an end position on the Associated Press All-Ohio conference first team. He was one of three members of the undefeated and untied Lutheran club to make the team.

The Associated Press acted only as a board of elections in counting ballots cast by the 20 coaches.

20 representative newspapermen who had handled conference contests, and officials who worked the games.

Probably the most astounding feature of the balloting was the fact that 152-pound Fred Folma of Heidelberg, a sophomore, nosed out Joe Poremba of Case, senior star, for the first string center job. Another unlooked-for result was that Jim Jones, Kent State's great end, failed to land one of the wing berths.

John Kostyo, Wittenberg's captain end the State's leading scorer with 67 points, led the entire field and was awarded the captaincy of the honorary squad. In an "on the side" ballot Kostyo was designated the outstanding player in the conference.

* * *

Altogether, 45 backs, 26 tackles, 31 guards, 13 centers and 26 ends received votes, each of the "pickers" naming first and second teams.

* * *

The Evans brothers senior Dave and Junior Winslow, were the Muskingum stars to make the grade. Dave at tackle and his brother at end.

Mansfield Semi-Pro Football Club Closes Season Sunday

COACH Earl McMullen's Automotive Supply semi-pro football combine will bring its 1940 season to a close by traveling to Rossford to battle the Rossford Merchants in a tilt at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Mansfield combine, idle for the past two weeks, will be out to mark up its third triumph of the season.

McMullen, working hard to have his athletes in top shape for the engagement, has been holding daily workouts at the county garage.

The Rossford team has played Mansfield clubs in 1938 and '39 and had registered triumphs both times. McMullen is determined that his team stop the Merchants' streak.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE.

OMAHA, Neb. — (UP) — Blueprints for McLemore Bowl were being readied today.

McLemore Bowl, which will be built in the shape of a giant black cat, and entirely constructed of broken mirrors, will be the site of a football game between the two teams who most keenly felt my "kiss of death" during the 1940 season.

The first game will be played on April 1, and while the contestants have not yet been named (they will be chosen by a joint meeting of the hellzapoppin cast and John Barrymore's ex-wives) it is felt that Notre Dame and the Texas Aggies will have the unpleasant distinction of dedicating the structure.

If present plans are carried out (and there is no reason to believe they won't, being as several reputable counterfeiters already are turning out the money for the project) McElmore bowl will have the largest seating capacity of any stadium shaped like a black cat in the world. There will be seats for 580,000 discontented persons.

One block of seats will be given over to the alumni of the schools whose chances for football success I spoiled by writing of the teams as "unbeatable," and "headed for an all-winning season," and "tab this club for the Rose Bowl—it can't miss."

Another block will be reserved for football followers who believed in my judgment and, as a result, were swept to the brink of financial ruin backing my selections. These hapless souls will be admitted free and served a light lunch during halftime intermission.

The idea of a McElmore bowl was born when reports came in that Texas had beaten the Texas Aggies.

I wouldn't believe these reports at first, and justified my skepticism by getting out my scrapbook and re-reading what I had written about the Texas Aggies after seeing them defeat S. M. U. and Rice.

These clippings were very reassuring.

"I'll quote a few to you: ". . . John Kimbrough personally can beat any team in the country. he is too powerful . . . To all mighty to be stopped . . . The Aggies have a line that is without mercy. . . . Behind this powerful forward wall works a backfield that is unstoppable."

See you all April 1 in McElmore bowl.

May the most over-rated team win.

Conn Given Edge In Bout

Expected to Whip Savold In N. Y. Fight Tonight.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Provided Sweet William Conn doesn't get the idea he's a killer, he should walk out of Madison Square Garden tonight with a win over Lee Savold, the corn-belt hero, and a match sometime next summer with Joe Louis.

According to most of the experts—who have been wrong before—the Pittsburgh pretty boy figures to give Lee a lesson for as much of the 12 rounds as the fight lasts. But every once in a while Billy boy gets the idea he must show the folks some fancy stuff, so he walks out and slugs with some fellow who can hit.

Savold is one of these. He has a pretty fair country left hand capable of making the birdies sing. So if Conn goes out there to trail away with Lee, he may wind up smack on the seat of his silk pants.

Louis is up in Boston beginning training for a little job of his own with Al McCoy two weeks from next Monday, but he will have his ears glued to the radio when the shooting starts about 10 p. m. (EST).

In recent outings, particularly Bob Pastor and Al McCoy, the 175-pound Billy has shown he can handle the big fellows like the 185-pound Savold.

A 1 to 3 favorite, Conn is tabbing himself to settle the whole thing in eight rounds or less.

* * *

Savold is just as confident saying "Conn's been lucky up to now, but he's gonna need a whole pocket full of rabbits' feet tonight and even then all he'll be able to use 'em for after I lick him is to make hassenfeffer."

Clark Leaves Pro Football

Detroit Lions' Coach Signs As Mentor at Grand Rapids.

DETROIT—(AP)—The big stadiums filled with their cheering multitudes were forgotten today by George (Potsy) Clark, one of football's big time coaches for more than three decades.

Clark, one of the greatest backs in football history at the University of Illinois before the World war, has signed to coach and act as public relations director at Grand Rapids university.

"This position represents security to me," said Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions during the past season. "I have two daughters approaching college age and I shall be glad to have them at a growing institution. I myself will be happy to be in a situation that does not depend on my won and lost record.

Although Clark is fully aware that his teams at Grand Rapids will be far removed from the big time, he hopes for development of the school's athletic stature.

Grand Rapids was coached by Paul Snell last year and won two games while losing five.

Demand Grows for Law Against Defense Job Strikes

BEGIN SURVEY OF NEED FOR LEGISLATION

House Judiciary Committee Asks War, Navy, Labor Viewpoints.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Congressional clamor for legislation to avert strikes in national defense industries continued today despite the statement of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson that the situation "presents no enforcement problem that is either novel or out of hand."

With Jackson declining to recommend legislation, Rep. Sumners (D) Tex., chairman of the house judiciary committee, called on secretaries of war, navy and labor and the national defense council to say whether legislation is needed to insure uninterrupted operation of defense industries. The judiciary committee is expected to be convened by Sumners when the departments have made a report.

The committee also had before it the bill of Rep. Smith (D) Va., chairman of the house labor investigating committee, outlawing strikes except on 30 days notice and setting up an arbitration service for labor and industry.

The measure was so drawn that Smith avoided the house labor committee, which has been hostile to his proposals, and committed it to the more friendly judiciary committee.

Declaring that introduction of the bill was not a mere gesture, Smith plans to demand hearings and action on his measure, along with others of similar character.

A resolution by Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., calling upon war and navy departments, for information as to union dues collected at construction camps asking whether the army and navy contracts deny jobs to non-union men, was forwarded to the departments. Under congressional rules, the departments are required to reply within seven days.

The possibility of further congressional agitation was heightened by the house fight over the Walter-Logan administrative review bill, which rudely shattered the semi-vacation of congress.

Democratic leaders issued a call to absent house members to return Monday to face a vote on approval of senate amendments to the measure. Republicans previously had been urged to return for the battle.

Despite administration opposition, sponsors of the bill were confident that the house on Monday will accept senate amendments and lay the bill on the White House doorstep. The measure is designed to curb powers of bureaucratic agencies through the process of court review of rules and regulations.

THREE IN JAIL

Youths From Mansfield Area Held In Johnstown, Pa.

Three Mansfield district youths, two 18 and the other 19 were held in jail in Johnstown, Pa., today for Mansfield authorities.

Police said they were notified by Pennsylvania officers this morning that the trio had been picked up in an automobile which contained assorted articles.

Dispatches to police said the youths had a quantity of chewing gum which they admitted stealing in Leroy, and a typewriter which officers identified as the one stolen from Republican headquarters, Warner building, two weeks ago.

BEEFING ABOUT BEEF FAVORITE LAMENT OF OHIOANS AT SHELBY

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(U.P.)—Beefing about beef is the up-to-date refrain of the legendary complaints about beans in this army camp where nearly 9,000 Ohio soldiers are in training.

U. S. army soldiers hold it an inalienable right to grouse about food served them and since they can't protest about beans, the Ohioans are squawking about the beef.

It's not the lack of beef that's the trouble. It's the opposite—too much beef on the menu. The soldier boys want more meat variety such as pork, veal, lamb and ham.

Problems in the shipment and preservation of the big quantities of meat required for feeding 9,000 men were said to be the reason for the steady beef diet. Beef is the easiest of the meats to handle in this section of the country.

With the menu as a minor irritation, the 37th division soldiers today awaited the first eneral pay day tomorrow since they were inducted from the Ohio national guard into federal service on Oct. 15. Each man will get a full month's pay, ranging from $21 to $666.67, depending on whether the recipient is a buck private or a major general.

Extra military policemen have been assigned to Hattiesburg, nearby small city, to see that the Ohio boys behave themselves in the spending of their sudden wealth over the week-end.

SENIOR HIGH GETS RATING OF 'VERY HIGH'

Top Rating In State Given Cafeteria In Report By Evaluation Group.

Mansfield Senior high school was given a rating of "very high" in comparison to other schools in the state as the three-day evaluation study by more than 50 leading Ohio educators ended yesterday.

Beginning their study Tuesday, the educators spent the three days going over equipment, interviewing students, attending classrooms, and questioning teachers in an effort to evaluate the school on the basis of its objectives and accomplishments.

Following a conference at the school yesterday, the educators made their final judgment from the mass of detailed knowledge collected by the various committees which studied the school in every phase. Mansfield's rating of "very high" was given the school after the committees' findings had been analyzed.

The school was rated "superior" in staff personnel, instruction and administration, but fell down on student activities and student guidance, Jesse Beer, principal, said.

Top rating in the state was given the school cafeteria, which is under the direction of Mrs. G. W. Hypes. According to Beer, the committee studying the cafeteria called it "one of the finest in the state."

"A great deal of the credit for our good rating should go to the students," Beer said. "The educators found them unusually alert and responsive."

The evaluation study of the school is a part of a state-wide attempt by high school principals, in conjunction with the state department of education and Ohio State university, to find a basis for judging and comparing Ohio high schools. Other schools throughout the state will be evaluated by the same group during the year.

The evaluation was in charge of Dr. D. H. Eikenberry, department of education, Ohio State university, one of the pioneers in formulating the evaluation idea.

walked into the office and announced calmly "this is a stick-up. And it's no joke."

Officers held as significant, however, a telephone call at 10:55 a. m., a few minutes before the robbery, to the state patrol headquarters, reporting an accident on U. S. route 30, at the Mansfield city limits.

Patrolman relayed the call to the sheriff's office which had just received word of the hold-up. Deputies were unable to locate the accident and state patrolmen who later investigated found no evidence of a crash at the place designated by the unidentified caller.

The bandits strode into the office shortly after 11 a. m. yesterday, forced three employes in a rear room, locked the door and looted the cash drawers and safe of all the cash in the place, amounting to $628, police reported today.

At 4 a. m. next day the lights went on for another contingent o farriving draftees, so there wasn't much time for sleep. At 6 a. m. they had breakfast of sausage, rolls, toast and coffee and two hours later had their belongings rolled up and were ready to entrain for Ft. Thomas.

They arrived at the Kentucky army post at 11:45 a. m. and from that time on were busy receiving instructions and getting their army equipment. Lump said the Mansfield boys wanted "to be remembered to the draft board members and office workers."

The five other draftees who left Mansfield with Lump were Dale Lutz, Fred L. Martin, James G. Kondos, Howard C. Ripper and David Boals. All of them were volunteers and were from Draft Boards 1 and 2.

GIRLS TO ASK BACHELOR TAX

And the Men Counter With Request For Tax on the Widows of California.

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Cal. The old maids and bachelors of California are going round and round over a proposal to tax the men for support of the women, and vice versa.

The controversy started when a group of unmarried girls got together to consider their plight. It was agreed these self-styled "bachelorettes," a pretty state of affairs that the bachelor in the state were not sufficiently cognizant of their charms to ask their hand in marriage. Worse still was the fact that the bachelors had jobs and many of the women did not.

Then they hit upon a "solution." "Tax the bachelors for our support," they cried, and forthwith incorporated themselves to seek legislation for this purpose. Bachelors, they argued, do not assume the responsibilities of creating homes and rearing sons for the country's defense, hence they should make up this negligence in cold cash.

But the bachelors were quick to challenge the plan. "Tax the wealthy widows," suggested a group of Palo Alto men, "and use the proceeds to support unemployed bachelors."

"The possibilities are staggering," the group wrote Gov. Culbert Olson, without, however, saying who would be staggered. The men supported their suggestion with "statistics" purporting to show that a large part of the idle wealth in the state was in the hands of widows who had inherited it.

A Pasadena man, Richard Shafer, entered the controversy with a letter to the governor urging that sponsors of the bachelor tax plan "be congratulated with a few pats on the back with a hairbrush."

Wrote Shaffer: "Apparently this neurotic plan was concocted by a few women with nothing better to do . . . why should unmarried men be forced to support unmarried women? . . . A far more worthy purpose for such a tax would be to assist college students to complete their education, obtain a job, and marry, as most of them wish to do. The reason many
